

Wheat Price Soared 33-4c.

Winnipeg Market on Reports of Frost in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Ninety-six Cents was Reached. Wheat Receipts for This Time of Year Large.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—As predicted in weather forecast yesterday, frost has been reported at three or four points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Everybody was down this morning to the Grain Exchange with their money on, and before the opening ended, one and a half cents had been added to prices over the previous close on curb trading. Exports Dip Nakes Built Active,—The market was soon settled, however, that American markets at the opening of the season were not over-enthusiastic regarding the value of the lighter nakes, but were being upped only fractionally. This was reflected in the Winnipeg market, where the quarters of a cent were added to the price of the dip nakes. This dip was taken advantage of by the bull loaders to pick up the market at a low price. The dip nakes offered were soon absorbed and the market was again being pushed up. It did not take much further time before the market was again being pushed up as far as they have been this season.

Lowest Price 52.—Ninety-six cents was reached about session-six and ninety-three cents was the low point of the market. The market was then being pushed up to a market with a large volume traded, it would have afforded good profit to the trader. The weather, of course, is the main factor of conversation, and if further weather is as good as the English, the market will have its effect. The Receipts of wheat are large for this time of year, and stocks are piling up at the head of the lakes. The price of all markets is the highest of the day, with Chicago over 1 cent higher than last night, Minneapolis 2-3-4 cents up, and Winnipeg October 3-3-4 cents higher.

UNION WILL NOT BE RECOGNIZED

ago, Aug. 21.—Every telegraph operator who went on strike two days ago has now received notification for reinstatement before he be taken back. The policy of compromise was announced today, and operators are asked to go to a recognition, but that even a written from the strikers will not be received. The Western Union has a formal contract, which applicant is required to sign, the Western Union is merely bringing the strikers to make application as an individual.

The Contract To Be Signed.

The contract of the Postal company is as follows: "I hereby agree, if employed by the Postal and Cable Co., to render full faithful service at all times, rendering no aid or assistance to any person or persons in any way interfering with the company's business, and I further agree that I will work with and well with every operator in the Postal and Cable Co.," said Small, of the Telegraph

The Situation in the East.
York, Aug. 21.—There have been important developments in the strike of the telegraph companies in the east to-day. The strikers and telegraph companies claim to be satisfied with conditions. As far as the movement of press despatches through the East is concerned, the has lost significance. TINKERING

Mr. Borden has begun his political pilgrimage for promulgating the policy of the Opposition as he understands it. As no policy however has been framed in any party convention, and as Mr. Borden has consistently refrained from giving the party any such opportunity to frame a policy, his present tour is necessarily rather an attempt to persuade his followers what they should think than to inform the country as to what they think. The pronouncements from Mr. Borden may be what Mr. Borden thinks—they may accord with the opinions of the majority of his parliamentary followers, but he has no authority to announce them as the opinions of the rank and file to whom he has persistently denied the opportunity of expressing any views.

Perhaps it is for this reason that the policy so far as Mr. Borden has outlined is yet so one of tinkering and tampering rather than of initiative or construction. Realizing as the Opposition leader must realize that he has no mandate from his supporters to announce what they think the best he can do is to say what he would have them think, trusting to their party loyalty to adopt the suggestion and to public credulity to mistake his announcements of private belief for the opinions of the party which he is the nominal leader, but of which he has never been, and is not the dominant force.

Not can the followers of Mr. Borden find much to arouse their enthusiasm, much less to awaken the interest of the public, in the suggestion he has yet advanced. Generally these suggestions are confined solely to the extension or development of lines of policy long since adopted by the government, and the instance in which he departs from the leadership of his opponents only prove how badly he fares when he attempts to go alone.

The announcement of the election laws is the subject of perennial debate and frequent legislation. As the defeated candidate wishes his proposals, amendments with declarations that the game was not fairly played, the disappointed leader seeks compensation for his rejection in the same experiment. The election laws of Canada have been amended from time to time as far as necessary, with good results, and they will doubtless continue to be modified as the need becomes apparent. Meantime Mr. Borden need not delude himself with the notion that his repeated debate have been because the people of Canada were bribers and bribe-takers, or that any profitable amendment of the election law or any other law would have made his chances better. The cause of his troubles lies nearer home.

The appointment of a commission to control the civil service is by no means an original suggestion, nor is it one which will meet with the unqualified approval of Mr. Borden's supporters. Canada has not yet abandoned faith in responsible government; until she does so we are not likely to turn over the executive machinery to an irresponsible or semi-responsible body.

More stringent regulation of immigration is only a backhanded way of saying that Mr. Borden does not approve of the quality of immigrants now coming to this country, a matter in which he is at direct variance with those who best know the economic value and mental and moral worth of these people.

The suggestion that the public should retain a fuller control of franchise-holding corporations only indicates that Mr. Borden has recognized the tendency of the times as shown in the difference between the bargain made by his predecessors with the Canadian Pacific and himself by his opponents with the G. T. P. Again his awakening comes too late to be saved.

An independent commission to regulate the government railways has been proposed before. Its eventual adoption would be entirely in line with the policy of the government as shown in the appointment of the Railway Commission and the Transportation Commission. Heretofore the government railways have not been able to support the smaller machinery by which they have been managed, without the burden of another salary drawing body. When they become capable of supporting it will be the time to propose its appointment.

The reorganization of the Railway Commission as a body having administration over all corporations owning public utilities has nothing to recommend it in it if it can be proved to be necessary. Otherwise we had better save the money necessary to multiply the machinery, for that it would have to be multiplied is clear from the overworked condition of the Commission at present.

National telegraph and telephone have been heard of before. Canada has had a government telegraph system in Western Canada for a quarter of a century and yet the telephone calls of the enterprise has been the problem of how to make it pay expenses. Alberta has taken up the telephone question and solved it in a way open to every other province and is not at all anxious that the Dominion should come along and take a good thing out of the hands of the Province.

The "restoration" of the public lands to Alberta and Saskatchewan is merely another way of saying that our provincial subsidies should be curtailed—a proposal toward which we must be careful from showing any uncontrollable enthusiasm.

"The promotion of mutual preference-trade" is Mr. Borden's way of announcing that he would give British no preference unless Britain refused tariff barriers to keep out the products of other countries.

Mr. Borden's remark concerning the altered line, that more people are interested in freight than passenger traffic, is both true and irrelevant. He wants a freight service added here to free to propose it and prove the need of it. His present announcement and further comments are simply an attempt to divert attention from a project which he fears is less popular to the public than his own well-known.

On the tariff of course the leader is sound—except with his warring parliamentary followers. He is for taxing the consumer so heavily that the manufacturer couldn't stay out of business if he wanted to. Presumably the speeches already made outline the general course Mr. Borden will pursue in his tour. There is little to begeth his followers with the idea that he is a leader, and less to delude the country with the notion that he is a constructive statesman.

ALWAYS ASSUME THAT IT IS LOADED

Tomorrow this peace-loving country will be under arms. Civic holiday and the opening of the back season are combined. Naturally scores, perhaps hundreds, of sportsmen from the city will flock early to the lakes throughout the country and down some score of farmers will sacrifice a half day for an outing with the gun. Our usually quiet valleys will resound with the roar of musketry and the hills give lack the booming of ten-hore artillery. There will be billiard firing, sniping, wing shooting, volley firing by sections, most of it at unknown angles, and hastily ranged distances, and generally in all directions. Of course the attention will not be at all proportionate to the noise and occasionally it may be a matter of judgment whether the ducks or the sportmen are in greater peril. Usually however the regrettable accidents which claim many men for life and change homes in various do not come from this indiscriminate firing but from improper handling of a gun, either by the victim or by his companion. Fortunately there is a limit to the range of a shotgun and few are the hunters who do not use their lives to the safe protection of nature and of nature's law. But the man who does not know how to handle a gun, and equally, the man who knows how to handle a gun but does not know of his own knowledge and of his companions. Against this ignorance and carelessness neither nature nor law can set a guarantee. The man who pulls a gun muzzle foremost from a canoe, who clatters through a wire fence with his weapon pointed straight at the heart of a comrade and who persists in carrying his gun loaded and cocked miles from any lake—the man is courting death and imperiling the lives of his companions. He is a greater danger than the rattlesnake and the creature who lets go whenever and wherever he sees anything in motion. He should be sharply reprimanded forth a job added here, and if this fails, should be tied to a post far from the scene of action and left till the party returns. It is surely not too much to demand a higher to remember that he is carrying a deadly weapon and that a human life is at greater value than many ducks. The safe rule is to always assume that a gun is loaded and to handle it accordingly.

THE REASON

McDonald street death has been shut off from traffic until passed. The drayman with a heavy load this has been a painful reminder of the slough of despond. To the stranger looting and jolting as the bus pitched into its unknown depths and rolled across its protruding bars. It must have recalled the experiences of the day in the past. The immigrant from the Old Land may have seen it in a resemblance to the quagmire into which Mr. Chamberlain led the mind and the quagmire of the day. Had Mr. Chamberlain been allowed to wallow through it he would have recalled the dismal swamp into which he rushed to extricate his stranded lieutenants. The city commissioners gazing upon its mazes would have discerned there the epitome of their administration. Perhaps this explains it. The more is of more consequence than the material, and if chaos induces profitability or interesting mauling why reduce it to monotony and uninteresting in common?

THE ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

The Bulletin strongly urged the necessity for an isolation hospital in this city and supported every move to establish the same. During the present year a substantial brick building was erected and though there has been a good deal of delay in opening the building we were confidently expecting that it would be to have a satisfactory building in which to take care of its citizens who were unfortunate enough to contract contagious diseases. This was too much to expect, however. The general methods that prevail in the management of civil affairs could not escape the isolation hospital.

The circular letter issued by the city medical health officer to the physicians in the city last explains the condition of affairs. It reads:

Dear Doctor—The new isolation hospital building will be open for the reception of cases of measles and scarletina on August 31. I shall be at the hospital from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. of that date to explain the system I have organized for the reception and accommodation of patients and the conduct of the institution. The diet list will be ready for your inspection and should any suggestions you may be disposed to offer regarding any of the items will receive consideration.

The health department intends to handle diphtheria in subsidiary wooden buildings when there are available; until then, the present system of tents will be employed. Chinkapox will be handled in a similar manner. Typhoid will only be received in the event of all the other hospitals being filled and the patients will be accommodated in tents at their own expense. Tuberculosis cases which may have been refused at the general hospitals will be received. In hospital tents, at the patient's own expense, whenever the accommodation at the disposal of the hospital will permit. Smallpox cases, it will of necessity demand special arrangements in some other locality. Erysipelas will be received, in the event of the hospital being full, at the patient's own expense, since all cases not quarantined performance must be prepared to assume their liabilities, however, all charges will be as moderate as the department can afford.

I am yours,
WILLIAM A. P. FERMAN,
Medical Health Officer.

From this it would appear that the citizens' money has been expended for a hospital for "measles" and "scarletina," two of the most harmless diseases known, while the unfortunate people who contract diphtheria must be housed in tents and live with scarlet fever, are entirely overlooked. It is not necessary to be a medical expert to see the futility of the proposition. Isolation hospitals are built more for the care of scarlet fever and diphtheria than for measles and scarlet fever. Patients suffering from these diseases usually have high temperatures and require good nursing and the best accommodation and yet after the expenditure of a considerable sum of money upon an isolation hospital this city is absolutely without any place to take care of patients suffering from either of these diseases. This is one of the worst pieces of bungling of the present year.

It appears that the isolation hospital contains four wards, the intention being to treat four diseases, to wit: the contingency of male and female patients only suggested itself to the wisecracks in charge after the building had been erected, the accommodation is limited to two diseases and the selection of these two "measles" and "scarletina," is well in keeping with the whole affair. There was no move upon the part of the civic authorities more generally endorsed than that of providing a place to care for scarlet fever patients, and the establishment of a means to prevent malignant diseases from spreading in the city, and it is a genuine disappointment that even this the people have been served so badly.

SENATOR FOIAKER'S REPLY.

To Secretary of War, T. A. Spencer, Senator, Lake, up Cause Negroes.
Georgetown, Ohio, Aug. 21.—In his first address after the Columbus speech of Secretary of War Taft, United States Senator Foiaaker before the Chautauque assembly here today, characterized himself as a fellow sufferer with the audience with whom he differed in many particulars. Quoting freely from the speech of the senator of war and from his own remarks in the debate in congress, Senator Foiaaker expressed his opinion on the various questions discussed by Mr. Taft. Senator Foiaaker called on the secretary to say what, in his opinion, the chief executive should do about the default nullification of the arm amendments to the constitution involved in such statutes as that passed in Georgia only a few days ago. He is properly in favor of doing all in our power for the eight millions of colored people in the South who were until recently entire strangers and open enemies. But how should he treat millions of black people in America who are quietly and defiantly denied their rights in schools, wealth, trusts and combinations of capital, and in the courts? Must he remember, but they are not all nor are they the most important of the evils from which we suffer?

DISPUTE OVER THE FISHERIES

Of Newfoundland is to be Arbitrated Before the Hague Tribunal. Britain Consents.

London, Aug. 20.—The American government, which has taken the lead in the Hague peace conference in endeavoring to promote arbitration, is responsible for giving the Hague tribunal the most important case yet submitted to it, the Newfoundland fisheries dispute, which undoubtedly will be taken there as a result of negotiations conducted in London between the foreign office and the American ambassador, William B. Eustis. Both the foreign office and the embassy maintain reserve, but it has been learned from unquestionable sources that the long correspondence between the two governments made it clear that their contentions could not be harmonized and had reached an impasse. Finally Mr. Eustis presented a proposal to submit the dispute to the Hague tribunal.

Will Remain Same for a Year.
After a week or two of consideration the British government accepted the proposal and then the American government proposed that the arbitration be conducted under the same modus vivendi as last year. There has been delay in concluding the arrangements. While the British government has agreed the consent of Sir Robert Borden, the Newfoundland premier, to the agreement, Sir Borden has been reluctant to accept the modus vivendi, which he opposed strongly last season. However, it is little doubt that the agreement will be concluded and the arbitration opened under the new season beginning next week. A question of principle.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 20.—Secretary Root's proposition to submit to arbitration a question of the relative importance of a matter of principle, if not of dollars, as the fisheries between Great Britain and America, has aroused the association by Newfoundland of the right of that colony to pursue local laws restricting fishing privileges controlled by treaty with American citizens. Newfoundland's action is based on the ground that the laws are equally applicable to Newfoundlanders or in other words are precise, similar to laws intended for the protection of game. Mr. Root's proposition was framed with the purpose of manifesting the confidence of the American government in the justice and policy of settling such international disputes by arbitration.

Strengthen Arbitration Proposition.
The United States has been in fact nearly all of the cases arbitrated by that body have come before it at the suggestion of America and involved matters in which the United States had an interest. So the agreement to arbitrate the fisheries dispute is a permanent tribunal, calculated to strengthen the hands of the delegates who recently faced that proposition.

Object to Sunday Fishing.
The principal obstacle to this agreement was the reluctance of the Newfoundlanders to restrict the modus vivendi under which the fisheries were conducted last season. They objected particularly to Sunday fishing by American vessels from their own people were prevented from doing so, and also to the shipping of Newfoundlanders to the fishing grounds of Gloucester fishing boats. It is understood that with new regulations the state department Ambassador laid yielded the point on Sunday fishing, but it is not known whether disposition was made of the other objection.

IS MARSH A QUITTER.
Canadian Runner Has Been Shaking Contests Regularly.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—What is the matter with John Marsh is the question that is being asked by a large number of the sporting fraternity of the city. Marsh has been billed to contest several one distance runs this season but at the last minute has not shown up.

Last night there were several bets made before the 15 mile Marathon race commenced that Marsh would win the race but Marsh failed his many backers by not getting in an appearance at the race. Marsh promised faithfully to his manager before the race that he would be on hand to run last night but what his scheme in dropping out at the last minute is what is puzzling many. Marsh, through his manager, F. N. Smith, arranged a short time ago to run a big heat at Calgary, at the "Crest" and Burs of Calgary, but this morning Smith received a telegram from the president of the race at Calgary that Marsh had wired them that he would be unable to take part in the race.

A local paper published this morning that in an interview with Marsh last night he mentioned that he was leaving last night for the east to take part in a matched race with Leonard. Manager Smith denies this, saying that he was unable to take part in the race at the present time.

Alfred Shurtle, the champion English long distance runner, will be in Winnipeg during the next month. Shurtle who is in the States has been very anxious to visit Winnipeg and give an exhibition of his endurance. He will likely be out next evening about the 7th of September. He will take part in a relay race and will also give a novel exhibition when he will run against a horse killed to a road buggy for 15 miles.

Big Conventioneer Here.
Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—The wholesale confectionery firm of Geo. Mehlman and Son of this city went into the hands of receivers 14 days. Liability to get its notes returned was the reason given for the owners' bankruptcy. The notes aggregated $100,000 and the assets are said to amount to $40,000.

JAPAN AND THE VATICAN.
Rome, Aug. 20.—The press declares that as a result of the Japanese mission to the Vatican, Japan will send an accredited minister to the Holy See and the Pope will appoint a nuncio to the Apostolic Delegation in Japan. The pontiff has accepted from a Japanese of high position the gift of an incense burner at Tokyo upon which will be consecrated a benediction church and a monastery.

Four Drowned.
Serrano, Cal., Aug. 20.—Three persons were drowned here this afternoon when a duckboat capsized in the Sacramento river. A fourth victim was added to the list when Manuel Giron, an expert swimmer, was pulled beneath the water by two women who had plunged into the river to save him, when he had overboard.

RICHEST FIND YET IN COBALT

A Silver Bearing Vein on the Surface, Eighteen inches Across.

Cobalt, August 20.—The cluster of mines around the Green-Median mine in Bucks are almost without exception making good. The latest discovery is a silver bearing vein on the surface. Last week a great find was made on the surface, not more than a hundred feet away from the main shaft. The silver bearing vein is eight inches across. It will rock on either hand is heavily shelled through with silver. Within the thickness of three feet the silver is splashed with silver run as a hundred feet away from the main shaft. North Cobalt is Gaining Ahead.

Strengthen Arbitration Proposition.
The United States has been in fact nearly all of the cases arbitrated by that body have come before it at the suggestion of America and involved matters in which the United States had an interest. So the agreement to arbitrate the fisheries dispute is a permanent tribunal, calculated to strengthen the hands of the delegates who recently faced that proposition.

Object to Sunday Fishing.
The principal obstacle to this agreement was the reluctance of the Newfoundlanders to restrict the modus vivendi under which the fisheries were conducted last season. They objected particularly to Sunday fishing by American vessels from their own people were prevented from doing so, and also to the shipping of Newfoundlanders to the fishing grounds of Gloucester fishing boats. It is understood that with new regulations the state department Ambassador laid yielded the point on Sunday fishing, but it is not known whether disposition was made of the other objection.

IS MARSH A QUITTER.
Canadian Runner Has Been Shaking Contests Regularly.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—What is the matter with John Marsh is the question that is being asked by a large number of the sporting fraternity of the city. Marsh has been billed to contest several one distance runs this season but at the last minute has not shown up.

Last night there were several bets made before the 15 mile Marathon race commenced that Marsh would win the race but Marsh failed his many backers by not getting in an appearance at the race. Marsh promised faithfully to his manager before the race that he would be on hand to run last night but what his scheme in dropping out at the last minute is what is puzzling many. Marsh, through his manager, F. N. Smith, arranged a short time ago to run a big heat at Calgary, at the "Crest" and Burs of Calgary, but this morning Smith received a telegram from the president of the race at Calgary that Marsh had wired them that he would be unable to take part in the race.

A local paper published this morning that in an interview with Marsh last night he mentioned that he was leaving last night for the east to take part in a matched race with Leonard. Manager Smith denies this, saying that he was unable to take part in the race at the present time.

Alfred Shurtle, the champion English long distance runner, will be in Winnipeg during the next month. Shurtle who is in the States has been very anxious to visit Winnipeg and give an exhibition of his endurance. He will likely be out next evening about the 7th of September. He will take part in a relay race and will also give a novel exhibition when he will run against a horse killed to a road buggy for 15 miles.

Big Conventioneer Here.
Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—The wholesale confectionery firm of Geo. Mehlman and Son of this city went into the hands of receivers 14 days. Liability to get its notes returned was the reason given for the owners' bankruptcy. The notes aggregated $100,000 and the assets are said to amount to $40,000.

Washington, August 21.—Cablegrams announcing that the Empress Dowager of China, aged 74, had died at the last Chinese New Year festival, which was celebrated in Peking, have caused a great stir in the world. The Empress Dowager's death is a great loss to China. She was a powerful and influential figure in the government. Her death is expected to cause a great international scramble for power in China.

PENSION RECALLS STORY OF FRASER

Who Explored the Fraser River and Took Possession of B.C. For the King.

Toronto, August 21.—It is learned that Miss Margaret Fraser, daughter of Simon Fraser, the explorer, upon whom the British Columbia legislature has just settled an annuity of $10,000 a year, is now in England. She is expected to live many weeks.

Simon Fraser was born near
Simon Fraser was born near Bonnington, Vancouver, in 1798. His mother and his family came to Canada and settled in the country after his father's death. In 1820 he became an ardent clerk with McTavish, Frohman, and Co. of the Northwest Fur Trading Co. of Montreal, and in 1820 became a partner. In 1820 it became his duty to cross the Rocky Mountains and take the fur trade to the Indians.

He took with him thirty men,
He took with him thirty men, and as he went on he built blockhouses and took possession of the country in the name of the King. In 1826 he discovered the Fraser River, and also other rivers and lakes which he named after other members of the company. He traced the Fraser to its source, one of his experiences on this journey is worth relating.

The next day he met an Indian
The next day he met an Indian tribe who killed their fattest dog for him, and, of course, he feigned to eat it. At the same time the couple decided to put him to death, but the interpreter intervened, he shot, and the white men stole away.

Traced Fraser to Sea.
In July 1826, he received instructions to trace the Fraser to the sea. He did so, and he was the first to reach the mouth of the Fraser. He was the first to reach the mouth of the Fraser. He was the first to reach the mouth of the Fraser.

SECURING SAMPLES.

Ald. Thos. Day and Jas. Greenish are out on a visit to the farms in the Edmonton district today securing samples of grain and grasses for a display at the Spokane fair, which opens on September 22nd.

The board of trade is getting the display together at the request of J. W. Grise, government agent at Spokane, and will consist of 25 small sheaves of winter wheat, 20 sheaves of spring wheat, 20 sheaves of oats, also grass and native grasses, and 1007 growth. Each exhibit is to be labelled "Grown at or near Edmonton, Alberta," and should prove a great advertisement for this section, as the exhibit will also be placed in all the fairs on the coast circuit.

In writing to the board of trade, Mr. Grise states that in the past special attention has been paid to showing the products of Manitoba at the fairs. Now, however, the talk of the Western States is all Alberta, and it is thought the big exhibition of this year will be able to get a good showing of the products of Alberta in the smaller agricultural products.
